INTRODUCTION

The 2018-2019 Annual Programming Report for WLRN Public Media is respectfully submitted to the Miami-Dade County Superintendent of Schools by the WLRN Community Advisory Board (hereinafter referred to as the “CAB”) in cooperation with the WLRN General Manager and Senior Staff, pursuant to the provisions and spirit of the Editorial Integrity Policy and Advisory Mechanisms for WLRN-FM and WLRN-TV.

The CAB is a volunteer board composed of 14 members, including two appointees from the Miami-Dade School Board, two appointees from the Friends of WLRN, Inc., and one appointee from the South Florida Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ). The School Board members currently serving are Dr. Dorothy Bendross-Mindingall and Dr. Martin Karp. The Friends of WLRN members currently serving are Ms. Calene Candela and Mr. Dwight Hill.

The CAB holds public, bi-monthly meetings with the General Manager and station staff to consider WLRN’s program policies, and the appropriateness and responsiveness of programs produced and broadcast in response to community issues, concerns and interests, on an advisory basis.

The WLRN CAB has an emeritus board consisting of former members who have been term-limited having served two (2) three-year terms. Members of the emeritus board are still welcome to attend the bi-monthly meetings and receive all CAB correspondence. However, they no longer have voting rights on the board.

The 2018-2019 officers of the CAB are: Kearey O. Wan, Chair; Barry Schwartz, Vice-Chair and Diana Jordan Zamora, Secretary.

The CAB is most appreciative of the hard work of the General Manager and staff in connection with the preparation of this report; in providing vital information and reports to the CAB throughout the year; and in responding to the suggestions and issues raised by the CAB.
WLRN PUBLIC RADIO

As South Florida’s only source for NPR News, 91.3 WLRN, and 91.5 WKWM in the Florida Keys plus 101.9FM and 90.7 WFLV HD-2 in Palm Beach continue to serve a large swath of southeast Florida with award winning journalism, intelligent news, discussion and entertainment programming twenty-four hours per day, seven-days per week all year round.

WLRN’s Classical HD-2 radio service has successfully filled the gap in classical music programming in South Florida, created when Classical South Florida’s three station network was sold to religious broadcaster Educational Media Foundation in 2015. Listeners are treated to 24 hours a day of beautifully programmed classical music via their HD-capable radios and digital devices.

Each week, more than 350,000 listeners tune in to WLRN/WKWM/101.9FM. More than 70,000 visitors on average listen each month to WLRN’s broadcasts via its live web stream. The station remains the most-listened to public radio station in the state. The mission of WLRN News states that “News is Our Future.” As such, WLRN News is now the prime mover of local-originating news content on WLRN. As news services across Florida continue to decline, WLRN continues as the radio news station of record in South Florida.

NATIONAL PROGRAMMING
Programming from national distributors, including National Public Radio (NPR), American Public Media (APM) and PRI/PRX form the core of WLRN’s broadcast service. Programs such as NPR’s Morning Edition and All Things Considered draw tens of thousands of listeners each week, from Palm Beach to Key West. BBC World Service can be heard in the overnight hours, 7 days per week. However, WLRN’s own productions such as Sundial, The Florida Roundup, The South Florida Roundup, The Sunshine Economy, and our Latin America Report, in concert with our flagship music programs, Evenin’ Jazz, Folk and Acoustic Music, and The Night Train emanate from and directly serve our own community.

WLRN LOCAL RADIO PRODUCTIONS
WLRN continues to serve the diverse South Florida Community with local programming. WLRN radio programs have received numerous awards in recognition of their excellence in service and craft. Week after week, WLRN provides vital and stimulating news, information and arts programming, produced from WLRN’s studios. Programs include:

The Florida Roundup
Broadcast statewide in collaboration with Jacksonville station WJCT, The Florida Roundup is a weekly discussion of topics relevant to our state. Hosted by Tom Hudson of WLRN and Melissa Ross of WJCT, this program features journalists, experts, legislators and professionals weighing in on a wide array of topics and responding to listener calls and tweets. Heard Fridays at noon.
The South Florida Roundup

Much like The Florida Roundup, Tom Hudson hosts a weekly discussion focused on the issues facing Palm Beach, Broward, Miami-Dade, and Monroe Counties. Guests include local business owners, lawmakers, and journalists, and government officials, among others, with panel discussions and live calls. Heard Fridays at 1pm, and Saturdays at 6am.

Sundial

South Florida is unlike anywhere else in the country. The region’s ethnic communities, biodiversity, socio-economic challenges and academic institutions provide for great conversation. Sundial host Luis Hernandez examines the critical issues to our listeners through passionate and intelligent conversation. Whether it's the future of the Everglades, the changing shape of Florida politics or the intersection of music and activism, the program takes a unique approach to South Florida stories with guests that challenge and enhance our understanding of life here. Each day, the one-hour show is divided into 3 or 4 segments that lead with the harder news and transition into conversations with artists, authors and musicians.

The program has dedicated the full show to in-depth explorations of contemporary issues. It had a teacher panel with educators across South Florida with varying levels of experience, school financing and language barriers. It co-moderated a primary debate with the Democratic candidates for governor. And it has partnered with national programs like 1A and PBS Newshour, focused on major political stories.

Sundial also started the Sundial Book Club, which highlights a South Florida author or a book that takes place in Florida. It features conversations with readers and the author on air and online, through a Facebook group that has hundreds of members. Also, soon to launch is Season 3 of “Live from the 305,” a bi-monthly music series that highlights the musicians that shape our region. Tune in to Sundial, Mondays through Thursdays 1-2pm and rebroadcasts from 8-9pm.

Evenin’ Jazz

A constant stream of appreciative emails lauding host Tracy Fields is but one indicator of the popularity of WLRN’s weeknight Evenin’ Jazz program. Ms. Fields’ warm, intimate on-air persona, plus her decades of experience and exquisite taste in jazz provide a rich listening experience for jazz novices and old hands alike. Each Monday night, Tracy features interviews with and the music of South Florida jazz artists. Listen to Evenin’ Jazz weeknights from 10pm to 1am.

The Night Train

WLRN’s longest running jazz program continues as part of the station’s long history of jazz programming. Ted Grossman’s The Night Train pulls into the station Sunday evenings from 8pm until midnight. With Ted’s enthusiasm and erudition, the show has been irresistible to a wide cross section of the South Florida community for over 30 years.

Folk and Acoustic Music
Whether it’s a history of the banjo, or where to find the best house concert, Michael Stock makes an intimate and informative appearance each Sunday from 2-5pm with Folk and Acoustic Music. A mainstay on South Florida airwaves since 1981, Michael delights listeners with rich historical facts, live in-studio performances and interviews, the latest CD’s and an extensive calendar of events of all things “folk.” A weekly segment called The Public Storyteller, co-hosted by director of the South Florida Storytelling project, Dr Caren S. Neile, features “everyday” Floridians telling tales of their own experiences as well as interviews with and performances by professional storytellers.

A Word on Food
Renowned chef, Norman Van Aken offers a combination of recipe, whimsy, reminiscence, food education and history in storytelling style each week, as part of WLRN’s Saturday Weekend Edition program. Norman Van Aken is chef/owner/partner at several restaurants, runs a cooking school, and has authored several books. Saturdays at 8:35am.

WLRN NEWS

WLRN News
Two dozen times, each weekday, our news team reports on the stories that affect all of us living in South Florida. This multiple-award-winning team is led by Vice President of News Tom Hudson, News Director Terence Shepherd, Editorial Director Alicia Zuckerman and Digital Director Teresa Frontado. WLRN continues to partner with The Miami Herald news organization.

The Florida News Exchange
Founded and managed by WLRN, this cloud-based exchange platform continues to serve as a nexus for Florida news: partner public radio stations across the state share their coverage with each other, broadening Florida listener’s knowledge and awareness.

SPECIALS & PROJECTS

ZipOdes: O, Miami Poetry (April 2019)
http://wlrn.org/write-ode-your-zip-code
April is National Poetry month and each year WLRN partners with O, Miami to encourage our audience to create and share original poetry focused on South Florida. We invite the audience, to pay tribute to the least poetic definition of where they live by writing “Zip Odes!” (A #zipode is a poem about where you live, written in the form of your zip code.) The rules are simple: Every ZipOde is five lines long. Each digit determines how many words per line. If a zip code has a 0: that’s a WILD CARD! Leave that line blank, use a punctuation mark, or otherwise surprise us. Each week, we choose around 10 #zipodes to feature on air and on social media. Each “zip odist” who has their poem selected is invited to read their poem live at our celebratory closing event at the historic waterfront mansion, Vizcaya Museum and Gardens. Poets of all ages responded and submitted more than 2,300 Zip Odes.

PriceCheck (Ongoing)
http://wlrn.org/pricecheck
The rising cost of healthcare is one of the biggest problems we face as a nation. One major issue: it’s often impossible for consumers to easily find out the cost of tests, treatments and services. Health News Florida, WLRN and WUSF teamed up with ClearHealthCosts.com, a health cost transparency company, to report on and collect prices of common health-care procedures with the members of our communities. The project is a crowd sourced searchable online database to make it easier to share and find prices for common procedures. Since patients also want high quality health care at a fair price, the site also offers links to several resources that measure quality in health care.

Interns (Ongoing)
http://wlrn.org/term/wlrn-interns
WLRN invests in developing young journalists throughout the year. We regularly interview and select a diverse array of current and recent college students interested in developing their skills in a newsroom that trains them to function as professional journalists. They are paid during their stint at the station and emerge from the experience with increased confidence, skill, knowledge and portfolios of their work. The group of interns working at WLRN From July 1, 2018 to June 30, 2019 include:

Sophia Cai - Princeton
Aaron Sanchez Guerra - North Carolina State
Gerardo Albert III - Florida International University
Sherrilyn Cabrera - Florida International University
Jaime Dolittle - Florida Atlantic University
Terrisa Mark - University of Miami
Lily Oppenheimer - Missouri School of Journalism
SPECIAL COVERAGE

Over the past twelve months, WLRN News produced and aired extensive and thorough reports about the ongoing effects of a horrific school shooting, the tragic loss of young lives and the concurrent effects of gun violence, plus continuing coverage of climate change and the political scene. Lighter stories and features were encouraged and featured. The following special coverage topics describe some of WLRN’s past year of special news coverage.

Stoneman Douglas Stronger (Ongoing)
https://www.wlrn.org/stonemandouglasstronger
February 14, 2019 was the one-year anniversary of the horrifying tragedy at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School. How is the Parkland community dealing with the aftermath? For some, it was activism. Others, music. Horses. Dogs. Even a pig. Many of those affected have found sources of comfort and healing since 17 people were murdered at the high school. This series chronicles the long-term recovery of the students, teachers, parents and others changed by the tragedy — their journey from strong to stronger. WLRN also continues to post where to find mental health and trauma support for those hurting from the Marjory Stoneman Douglas tragedy.

In Their Own Words (Ongoing)
https://www.wlrn.org/ownwords
It’s a pain that never heals. That’s how parents and family members describe losing school-aged children and teenagers to gun violence. Nearly 1,300 children ages 0 to 17 died from gunshot wounds in the United States each year. According to The American Academy of Pediatrics, firearms rank in the top three causes of death for American children. In South Florida, after the shootings and funerals, families struggle to make sense of young lives cut short by bullets. WLRN explores this loss through the voices of family members and parents impacted by youth gun violence in this series.

The Invading Sea (Ongoing)
https://www.wlrn.org/term/invading-sea
Climate change is the story of Florida’s future. No other state has as much at risk. That’s why six of the leading news organizations in Florida have formed a partnership to share stories and work together to report on the complex challenges of climate change. The founding members include The Miami Herald, the *South Florida Sun Sentinel, the Tampa Bay Times, The Palm Beach Post, the Orlando Sentinel and WLRN Public Media.

Additional media outlets have since joined this collaboration. From reporting and visually documenting King Tides effects on sunny days, to hour long programs, to town halls and week-long climate conferences, WLRN continues to be at the forefront of covering the impacts, responses, and the threat of climate change to our community.

Hurricane Ready (Ongoing)
https://www.wlrn.org/term/hurricane-preparedness-0
WLRN is part of the Florida Public Radio Emergency Network. It is activated during weather emergencies to provide residents with timely and accurate information. The Atlantic Hurricane Season runs from June 1st to November 30th. All Florida residents, new and otherwise, are encouraged to have an emergency plan and get supplies ready in case of a weather emergency. WLRN continues to post information our audience needs to help keep themselves and their families safe before, during and after a storm. Forecasts and interactive maps are available on our weather page, powered by Florida Storms.

Democratic Presidential Candidate Debate (June 2019)
Miami’s Adrienne Arsht Center hosted two nights of Democratic debates in Miami, June 26 and 27, 2019 featuring 20 qualifying candidates. The Center is catty-corner from WLRN: we covered locally important issues leading up to the debates, what it took for the Arts Center to host the debates, covered the candidates campaigning in the area, transportation challenges to attend the debates, and broadcast live the national debates themselves. In their aftermath, we reported reaction to the lack of attention to both immigration and Latin American policy (hot topics in South Florida), a local mayor’s failure to qualify and Spanish language television’s broadcast translation of the debates.

WLRN DIGITAL

WLRN continues to expand its digital reach to better fulfill its mission to inform and entertain audiences in Palm Beach, Broward, Miami-Dade and Monroe counties. Attention to user experience and efforts in a variety of digital storytelling techniques, from interactive maps to videos and photo galleries, have fueled the growth in traffic to WLRN.org. In fact, this year we surpassed the two million digital users mark on our website.

The overall number of users on our website grew 31.83 percent to 2,534,039 for the 2018 - 2019 period. Our efforts to take WLRN's content to new digital audiences yielded a 32.94 percent increase in just new users.

WLRN.org's sessions, defined as periods of time when users are actively engaged with our digital content and not static on a page, grew 24 percent to 3,533,748 sessions. Our overall page views grew by 22.59 percent to 5,081,214.

WLRN continued to focus on building a direct relationship with our audiences to sustain our digital growth. Our efforts in Search Engine Optimization (SEO) on our stories yielded an increase in traffic from organic searches to 48.7 percent of all visits. The number of users reaching us by direct search -- meaning that they type WLRN.ORG or have us bookmarked on their browsers -- remains around 21 percent. Those numbers show we have a strong digital brand and we don't depend on third parties like Facebook or Twitter to reach audiences.

Attention to details, like how to better present our content on mobile platforms, has led to growth of 31.85 percent among mobile users in 2018-2019. The largest share of users (42.66 percent) still come to us from IOS platforms (iPhones and Apple tablets).

We have grown exponentially our use of Groundsource, an interface that allows us to interact with our audience via text messages. We have conducted more than 1,000 queries in that platform, asking our audience to text us back answering questions, sending us pictures or giving us feedback. We have used Groundsource to find sources for joint projects with WLRN TV, such as the 50th Anniversary of the landing on the moon. We also used this platform to launch an environmental newsletter via text. That newsletter reaches more than 200 followers once a week. The model has been so successful that an email newsletter with environment content is also in the works for later this year.

WLRN's social media accounts continue to experience healthy growth across all platforms. We surpassed the 20,000 followers mark on Facebook and increased our Twitter followers around 8 percent. Our Instagram account grew 30 percent in the last 12 months, something we attribute to a new strategy using the popular Instagram stories to drive attention to our content.

We wanted to highlight the sustained growth in the Sundial program accounts. A consistent digital strategy has yielded almost 50 percent growth in followers for their Facebook and Twitter accounts. The Facebook page of the Sundial Book Club has grown 299 percent since it started in late 2018.

WLRN PUBLIC TELEVISION

WLRN-TV Channel 17 is a PBS (Public Broadcasting Service) member station licensed to the School Board of Miami-Dade County, Florida. During an average month, Channel 17 reaches approximately 530,000 TV households in the Miami - Ft. Lauderdale area with a viewing audience in four South Florida counties, from Palm Beach to Key West.

WLRN is South Florida’s PBS Ready to Learn station airing 50-hours of award-winning children’s programming weekly. WLRN-TV also presents the best of the PBS nationally recognized series to compliment locally produced and acquired content. Our primetime schedule features an eclectic array of nature, history, mystery, British programs, and WLRN original documentary specials to address the diverse interests of the South Florida community.

Viewer favorites on Channel 17 continue to be a diverse mix of local and national content as well as independent documentaries and children’s shows. The mix of genres and day parts in our top ten titles illustrates that viewers are finding programs to watch on WLRN at all times of the day and they like the variety of programs available.
PROGRAMMING HIGHLIGHTS

WLRN-TV kicked off the summer of 2018 with the addition of a Friday Night Movie. Classic cinema done South Florida Style. Every Friday night at 9, viewers experienced a theatrical front row seat in the comfort of their own living room. Titles included McClintock starring John "The Duke" Wayne, Charade starring Cary Grant and Audrey Hepburn and Ol' Blue Eyes himself, Frank Sinatra in The Man with a Golden Arm.

The addition of movies to the programming slate was an experiment that audiences received warmly. Later in the year, movies were repeated over the weekend to even greater success.

August brought the late summer fundraising drive. With great titles like Joe Bonnamassa: British Blues Explosion and Food: What the Heck Should I Eat!, the airwaves were full of the best of music, travel and self-help programming. By striving to localize fundraising drives, WLRN viewers were treated to programming that was more congruent to its regularly scheduled broadcasts. For example, an exploration of the role that Jewish Americans played in World War II called GI Jews was broadcast on WLRN’s Monday night “Stories of Conflict,” a night dedicated to the significance that global conflicts have had on our history.

In September, WLRN lived up to its mission as “South Florida’s Storyteller” when two new original productions premiered. The first titled Cat’s Cradle featured a retired couple living in Central Florida who had turned their property into a hospice for elderly cats. The second film focused on the beautiful Macaws that grace the South Florida skies and the woman at the center of the battle to keep them safe. Both Parrots in Peril and Cat’s Cradle aired as part of WLRN’s strong Thursday night nature lineup.

WLRN’s new primetime schedule took over in October. While most stations tend to overhaul their broadcast schedule from year to year, WLRN-TV stayed with the old adage “…if it ain’t broke, don’t fix it!” With a few minor programming teaks, the programming schedule was kept intact. One major addition, however, was Frontline on Sunday nights. Building on the reputation of WLRN News on the radio side, WLRN premiered one of the strongest and most reputable current affairs programs on broadcast television. With a wide range of topics, Frontline takes an unflinching and compelling look at complex, vital and often controversial subjects.

The November schedule celebrated the heart of what makes WLRN unique with multiple encore presentations of WLRN’s original documentaries throughout the month. The station also premiered the PBS stalwart Independent Lens. A weekly series that celebrates the art form of documentary storytelling with a “film festival” style appeal. Topics ranged from hula dancing to crossword mania and Independent Lens felt like a perfect fit alongside WLRN’s original productions to reinforce the storyteller mission.
New Year, New WLRN! In January, WLRN doubled down on the drama with the return of Doc Martin to the regular schedule. Due to a unique production schedule, the Doc only returns with new episodes every other year. The eighth season kicked off in early January to an eager fanbase that waited patiently for more of the dubious doc with the questionable bedside manner.

World War II has long held a considerable amount of fascination for our WLRN audiences. Every Monday, WLRN’s Stories of Conflict provides a variety of angles to the Great War. In February, programming introduced new documentaries along the same lines with the two-part series Last Heroes of D-Day with Dan Snow, which examines how the allied forces gained a foothold in northern France. And Camp X told the true story of a secret agent training camp established in Canada during the war.
